

Todd Broderick

Head of Human Resources, Asset Management
Fidelity Investments

Todd Broderick is head of Human Resources for Asset Management at Fidelity Investments. Fidelity Investments is a leading provider of investment management, retirement planning, portfolio guidance, brokerage, benefits outsourcing, and other financial products and services to institutions, financial intermediaries, and individuals.

In this role, Todd is responsible for working closely with Asset Management's leadership team to continuously develop the workforce of the future in support of a key strategic objective: driving the organization forward to attract, retain, and develop market leading talent. He also leads a dedicated Human Resources team with a commitment to a diverse and inclusive culture that enhances the associate experience, provides opportunities for career growth, and leads to delivery of exceptional value to Fidelity's clients.

Prior to assuming his current role, Todd was vice president of Asset Management Human Resources, compensation, and workforce intelligence, and provided primary HR support to the Quantitative Investing business. Previously, he was vice president of compensation and benefits, as well as various other enterprise and business unit compensation roles. Before joining Fidelity, Todd was a global compensation manager at Reebok International and Adidas. Todd has been in the financial industry since joining Fidelity in 2006.

Todd earned his Bachelor of Science from Stonehill College and his Master of Business Administration from Bentley University.
